Once received, your complaint will be logged and a notification of your complaint reference number, together with confirmation of receipt, sent to you within 2 business days. This number must be quoted in any future correspondence.

We will contact you again within 10 business days to update you on the progress of our investigation and our findings to date. At this stage, we aim to agree a resolution with you.

If we have been unable to progress to a proposed resolution within ten business days, an update will be sent you via your preferred method of communication weekly or, of course, you may contact us at any time if you wish to add any further information which will help with the investigation or to discuss any aspect of your complaint.

We maintain comprehensive records in relation to any complaint received to ensure we are able to access and retrieve details easily at any time and closely monitor the progress of a complaint in compliance with key timelines.

Dependent on the nature of the complaint, a resolution may take a little longer, but we will keep you fully informed of our activities to date. We will write to you to inform you of our decision as soon as our investigation is complete.

If you are a micro business and we have not been able to resolve the issue within eight weeks or if we cannot come to an agreement that satisfies an acceptable resolution for you, we will write to inform you of this and that you have the right to refer your complaint to the Ombudsman Services: Energy Broker "Alternative Dispute Resolution Scheme" (ADR), who are there to help resolve disputes between energy brokers and their customers. Where we have been unable to agree an acceptable outcome, we will issue what is known as a 'deadlock' letter and, again, notify you of your right to refer to the aforementioned ADR Scheme.

The Ombudsman's service is a "FREE SERVICE" to use for microbusinesses and is totally independent of any energy supplier, or broker – they are impartial and their decisions are based entirely on the information they receive directly from you, the customer, and records provided by the broker. We actively encourage our microbusiness customers to use this service in such circumstances.

Once a final decision has been provided by the Ombudsman Services: Energy Broker "Alternative Dispute Resolution Scheme" (ADR), you do not have to accept their decision. However, should you wish to, we will comply with their decision.

The decision provided may include but is not limited to:

- an apology;
- an explanation of what went wrong;
- a practical action to be taken to correct the problem;
- and/or a financial award..
